

Michelle is a Kansas native who moved to the Gulf Coast in 2010. She currently works at the DuBard School for Language Orders at The University of Southern Mississippi. Michelle is excited about the opportunity to further her education in something she loves and to share effective workplace strategies.